Use free keymacro function to define macro and get keyboard shortcuts to any process. For example to change the screen saver settings use keymacro "CSCM_STARTSCRENSAVER" to activate window and keymacro "CSCM_STOPSCRENSAVER" to deactivate the window. Limitations: Windows 2000/XP/Vista compatible only. Keyboard shortcut to activate the main window. This plugin create a unique key (e.g. Ctrl + Space) to automatically open a terminal window with specific information. This information could be a url, a mailto: link, a subject, a text file with specific content or a file with specific extension (e.g. .txt, .doc, .pdf) depending on the settings that you will choose. The plugin starts a terminal and opens the chosen information through a browser (provided that there is a web service that allows to display the info from that specific site). This plugin helps to carry out specific tasks with data that could be gathered from web site and then, without the need to use a PC or a smartphone, you can start typing the link in a terminal window and quickly open it in a browser. The goal of this plugin is to facilitate the use of web services that enable you to get information from a specific site, or from a web site.
Example: With this plugin you can open a terminal window and start typing the specific information that you want to open.
