Is there a way to do it for all serial numbers available? I would like to get all the serial numbers and then validate them one by one. A: tl;dr: It can be done using a very simple solution. Import the data using a CSV file Use the serial number as the primary key Remove any duplicates in the file Use a simple loop to generate the list from the file The first line in your CSV file should look like this: "serial number", "description" This could be a table in a database or file, it doesn't matter. I named it "serialnumber.csv" and it looks like this: "100003005D00", "My first serial number" "100003005E00", "My second serial number" "100003005F00", "My third serial number" Format the CSV to be like Excel Export the data to Excel Open your Excel file Write the following in a new column: =INDEX($B$2:$B$4, MATCH(D6,$A$2:$A$4,0)) Make sure to include the full list of numbers as $B$2:$B$4 Copy the formula and drag it across the relevant cells to find all serial numbers in that list of Excel cells Go in manual mode and find a serial number Copy that serial number and paste it on your test.csv file Open the database and get the description as described in the first line of your test.csv file. The full results should be something like this: "serial number", "description" "100003005D00", "My first serial number" "100003005E00", "My second serial number" This is a very simple solution, it does not involve some complex SQL queries. But you might have to play with the syntax a bit depending on your file-format and used database system. And if you want to go in the direction of the bigger problem and use this to allow a big number of users access the same license keys that aren't blocked by license control software, you have to learn a lot more about this problem. That would be a much better question to ask on StackOverflow. But if you need a simple solution now, this one should work fine. Edits: There is a more
