The suite of precision-engineered data collected from these players allows players to master more than 30 game-related skills directly from within FIFA Ultimate Team and create an entirely new level of athlete interaction that's never been possible on any other video game platform. "The technology behind FIFA 21 was the most significant in our history," said Geraud Thys, FIFA Technical Director. "HyperMotion Technology is powered by players' movements - tackle, dribble and jump direction - and it transforms every aspect of gameplay. This technology is so powerful that it changes the way we see football, which makes FIFA 22 the most authentic football experience possible."

"HyperMotion Technology" Creates 30 "Centric" Skills With more than 30 game-related skills, FIFA 22 will allow players to master more of the challenges of the real game of football than ever before on any other video game platform. Combining realistic, high-speed physics and a suite of real-life athlete movements, the most authentic pro-game experience is now possible. The game continues to offer dynamic, authentic player interactions throughout its total gameplay experience. This includes five game-changing skills in every move and play, yielding players more control, more creativity and greater fluidity of movement on the pitch. "You can now feel every challenge of the ball, every tackle, every dribble and every moment of the game" - Pre-Order for FIFA 22 • Log on to FIFA.com/FIFA22 FIFA 22 introduces a significant addition to the Academy, including Pro & Elite Developmental Player Fixtures (Pro-EDF) as well as an Elite Player Performance System (EPP). The introduction of Pro-EDF & EPP in FIFA 21 created a variety of new dynamic options for the Academy, but certain match types (i.e. EDF/EPP vs non-EDF/EPP) had to be excluded in FIFA 21. With this release, Pro-EDF & EPP match types are now available in full and satisfy the needs of all players. This addition also allows for more opportunity to develop on-pitch chemistry and provides players with the ability to practice multiple positions and skills. *Pro-EDF & EPP content in FUT 22 will be added when the full game releases on September 27th.
