on the other hand, with the non-official servers, for example, when a reload is not possible for whatever reason, a system or network error, or if the player deliberately or otherwise presses the exit button, the equivalent of a global exception will be triggered on the layer and the layer will not be able to handle it. the layer is therefore not able to take any action, such as returning back to the main menu. a beta version of the game was playable at gamescom 2014. version 1.22 of the game was released on september 12, 2014. it contained bug fixes, balance tweaks, and optimizations to the server performance. the most important bug fixed in this update was the inconsistent server memory allocation, which significantly improved the game's performance. the next beta update (1.23), released on december 2, 2014, improved graphical features and removed the ability to move the camera by the mouse wheel. [6] a public beta for the game was released on december 2, 2014. while it was not officially released, the server was taken offline due to memory issues. the beta was only to test the server side mechanics as other aspects of the game were not complete and not intended to be part of the final release. [7] despite this, the game was released on october 2, 2015. [8] as a result, the servers were merged into the production servers without any effort to change the maps. patch 1.28 was released on may 5, 2016. it contains bug fixes and optimizations and it fixes the concern about the ps4's ram requirement. several maps have had their requirements re-assessed and changed, requiring all ps4 players to re-download these maps. the player is then briefed by his superiors, who state that an enemy who placed a c4 on the extraction zone also planted listening devices in the vehicles, so they must be parked away from the extraction area for the trip back. the player is then led back to the extraction zone, where they find a truck with the two members of team 3. they are then driven to camp holcomb, where the other extraction team are waiting for them. after a brief debriefing, they take a small plane and are flown back to the extraction zone. the clients can connect to the dedicated servers via a vpn or the automatic matchmaking function in the client. automatic matchmaking requires a server join and is enforced by a firewall rule. results are limited to the database that a player is signed into, and is shown to other connected players. with automatic matchmaking, players can join servers that are up and running without leaving the client. servers are matched by availability and player count. if you prefer to join a specific server, you must manually add the server to the client. once a server is in the client, the server is then added to the list of available servers to join. if you are a fpp or ftb player, you are able to play on the dedicated servers of the above mentioned providers, though the countries and game modes are restricted. you will need to play by invite (as you would do with a regular client), but this does mean that you have no automatic matchmaking. procon allows the player to join special requirements of a single-player or multiplayer battlefield installation with just one click. for example, from the dedicated squad tab, you can instantly add to, join, or create a squad to a single-player or multiplayer battlefield game. this is particularly useful when returning to a single-player game from a multiplayer game or vice versa. 5ec8ef588b
