I have following error when run my test project: Could not load file or assembly 'file:///C:/Repository/nuget.conf' or one of its dependencies. The system cannot find the file specified. I have the nuget.conf file in my repository, and I have verified its location using the findstr command in powershell. I tried cleaning the bin directory and running the test again but the error persist. I have also verified that the nuget.exe can be found using path. I have also tried to reinstall the nuget but it still giving me the same error. I cannot seem to figure out why this is happening. Any help is appreciated. A: Found the issue. I had my Test Projects and Main projects in the same solution and when running the test projects from the Test Explorer the entire solution gets unloaded because there is no nuget.exe. When I created a new separate Test Project it works fine. Laparoscopic transperitoneal approach for renal cell carcinoma metastases. Minimally invasive surgery is an alternative to traditional open surgery for localized renal cell carcinoma. The aim of this study was to assess the clinical outcome of minimally invasive surgical management of patients with isolated lung metastases from renal cell carcinoma. From January 1996 to March 2000, 60 patients with confirmed isolated lung metastases from renal cell carcinoma underwent parenchyma-sparing minimally invasive surgical resection. The primary tumors were resected laparoscopically in a transperitoneal approach. Patient selection was f988f36e3a
