Additionally, you can edit the selection you are masking so you can adjust the areas that will remain visible. The new feature to the Adobe Color dialog allows you to manage color areas as though they were regions of the image. You can assign profiles for specific regions and hide the rest. If you select the edit button underneath the image it will make it possible to change the color of a specific region of the image giving you the opportunity to make a simple adjustment in the most efficient way. With this update, you can now export photos to the embedded web feed and Adobe Color CC. Additionally, the new color, motion, and exposure improvements can be switched on and off in the camera's user interface. After applying a filter, you may want to see a list of all the filters that are currently applied in the document. The new filter list shows you exactly which filters have been used in the caption and the sum of the effect each filter has on the image. You can choose the filters that will be named in the caption if you wish so you can quickly save time.
